GROWTH OF $10,000 SINCE INCEPTION

MARKET COMMENTARY

During August, the heavy news flow continued, especially in the U.S. Global markets sold off during the first week of August due to a confluence of factors such as the yen carry trade unwind, multiples of richly valued technology stocks deflating, and a weak jobs report in the U.S. The U.S. continues its march toward elections in November, with more news, policy proposals, and headlines that fuel uncertainty in a tightly contested election. Further, soft economic data in the U.S. regarding jobs, job openings, and manufacturing output brought the word “recession” back into the realm of possibilities, as the notion of a soft landing seems less certain. Given this backdrop, the U.S. Federal Reserve (the Fed) indicated that it is time for a policy shift, and rates are likely on the way down after the next Fed meeting in September. Outside the U.S., central banks in Canada, the UK, and other western-oriented central banks are lowering rates while Japan has raised rates. Finally, China has continued to garner headlines for the wrong reasons as the economy has failed to recover post COVID on the back of underwhelming stimulus by the government with deflationary pressures still present.

PORTFOLIO COMMENTARY

Banco Bradesco SA Pfd positively contributed to relative performance during the month after reporting earnings in early August. The company beat profit expectations for the second quarter in a row, which drove the stock higher. While earnings remain depressed, the improving results were seen by the market as a positive for the relatively new CEO. The results also showed an improving growth rate that puts the bank closer to market rates of growth.

SharkNinja, Inc. contributed to relative performance during the month as the company released positive quarterly earnings that once again outperformed market expectations. The company has benefitted from solid execution and market discovery after the spinoff and U.S. listing. The stock has been a strong performer since its purchase. After positive earnings, the stock was sold as it neared its price target and the thesis had largely played out as expected.

Halliburton Company detracted from relative performance in August along with the broader Energy sector. Concerns that softening economic fundamentals could further contribute to a supply/demand imbalance in the energy market weighed on the stock. The company also experienced a cyberattack toward the end of the month; although services remain intact, this could require ongoing expense to determine its scope.

Hess Corporation detracted from relative performance in August along with the broader Energy sector. Concerns that softening economic fundamentals could further contribute to a supply/demand imbalance in the Energy market weighed on the stock.

OUTLOOK

Given the muted market returns in July and higher volatility in August, a sentiment shift may be afoot, as we have seen material rotations over the past couple of months. Softening economic numbers and stagnant inflation over the last few months forced the Fed to admit the time to adjust policy is here, which likely means a rate cut in September. This will come on the heels of other central banks that have already cut. However, the issue regarding cutting rates is less about who is cutting and when that first rate comes, but more about why rates are being cut and by how much. If the Fed and other central banks have to move quickly in cutting historically high rates as a result of softening economic growth versus sufficiently tame inflation, it will pull the soft landing scenario off the table and we could continue to see a violent rotation away from high multiple stocks in favor of lower multiple stocks. This may be further aggravated if we do officially enter a recession.
